When Mayuko was born her mother died. Her father left her mother before Mayuko was born so she didn't know anything about him. At the same second that she was born a tiger was born, too. Because of that coincidence, she can turn into a tiger if she feels danger. During the day she charges herself with sunlight so she glows when it gets dark (usually she glows pink because it is her favorite color). But even as a normal girl she is quite strong because she practices karate.
